Tells A Story with special guests at 2 PM. See real models used in Thursday, July 26 - 7:30 PM SPECIAL 25th ANNIVERSARY FAST TIMES AT RIDGEMONT HIGH, 1982, Universal, 92

min. A painfully-funny look at precocious high school students by director Amy Heckerling (CLUELESS). A strange launching pad for three future Oscar-winning Best Actors: Forest Whitaker, Nicholas Cage, and Sean Penn (as pothead surfer, Jeff Spicoli). Also starring Jennifer Jason Leigh. Classic music by Tom Petty, Joe Walsh, The Cars, Led Zeppelin and more. Guests

Friday, July 27 - 7:30 PM MODS & ROCKERS Double Feature: JANIS, 1974, Universal, 96 min. Arguably the greatest female rock singer of her generation, Janis Joplin gave forth a heartbreaking intensity before her tragic death from an overdose in 1970. Director Howard Alk's portrait (made with her family's cooperation) features volcanic concert (1966 - 1970) performances of "Ball And Chain," "Piece Of My Heart," "Tell Mama" and other classics.

PETULIA, 1968, Warner Bros., 105 min. Dir. Richard Lester. Physician George C. Scott finds himself drawn into the life of unhappily married Julie Christie at the height of San Francisco's Summer of Love. Featuring ultrarare appearances in their prime by Janis Joplin (with Big Brother & The Holding Company) and The Grateful Dead, PETULIA captures both the sunshine of the 60's and the melancholy afterglow.

Saturday, July 28 - 7:30 PM Double Feature: A HARD DAY'S NIGHT, 1964, Miramax, 85 min. Director Richard Lester captured the early Beatles at their best, clowning (as one reviewer said) like the new Marx Bros. From Alun Owen's script to George Martin's score (both Oscar-nominated) to the Beatles themselves this is the essence of the Sixties.

HOW I WON THE WAR, 1967, MGM Repertory, 110 min. Director Richard Lester recruited John Lennon for this surreal satire on war movies, featuring Michael Crawford (THE KNACK) as a blissfully unaware idiot charged with building a cricket pitch behind WWII enemy lines. Although set in the 1940's, it exudes a 1960's anti-establishment tone.

Sunday, July 29 - 3:00 PM Kids' Festival: 25th Anniversary! SECRET OF NIMH, 1982. MGM Repertory, 82 min. Director Don Bluth's beautiful animated film features the voices of Derek Jacobi and John Carradine. A widowed mouse (Elizabeth Hartman) has a sick son and her home is about to be flattened by a tractor. She seeks help from mentally-enhanced lab rodents who've escaped from the National Institute of Mental Health. With Harry Potter-like high adventure, the heroes must battle cat attacks and murderous rats. Join us first at 2 PM at Every Picture Tells A Story, for a Story and Snack Hour with

Sunday, July 29 - 7:30 PM Double Feature: THE PARTY, 1968, MGM Repertory, 99 min. Dir. Blake Edwards. A wonderful homage to Jacques Tati, with Peter Sellers as an awestruck Indian actor who disrupts a chic Hollywood gathering with the help of French songbird Claudine Longet.

Ultra-Rare! SKIDOO, 1968, Paramount, 97 min. Dir. Otto Preminger. NOT ON DVD [See description July 14 - Egyptian] Discussion in between films with director Blake Edwards

All discussions are schedule permitting.
